FEDERATION

PRESIDENT Kate Caithness

Scotland's Kate Caithness is the first female president of the World Curling Federation and the first female president of any Olympic winter sports federation.

First elected president of the WCF in April 2010 and re-elected without opposition two years later, Caithness has been involved with the sport of curling since the 1980s. As a member of Scotland's Royal Caledonian Curling Club, she went from playing the game to putting something back into the sport in the late 1990s. She served as president of the RCCC Ladies' Branch in 1997-98, then became an RCCC representative to the World Curling Federation.

Since 2000, Caithness has been the driving force behind the WCF's development of wheelchair curling. She was on the team that created the first World Wheelchair Curling Championship and was instrumental in the sport's inclusion at the 2006 Paralympic Winter Games in Turin, Italy.

From 2005 to '09 Caithness was an elected member of the International Paralympic Committee's five-person Sports Council Management Committee and she served on the Paralympic Games Committee from 2006 to '09.

Caithness was elected vice-president of the WCF in 2006 and served two two-year terms under former president Les Harrison.

In March 2011, Caithness was appointed to the Olympic Program Commission, responsible for reviewing and analyzing the sports, disciplines and events program, as well as the number of athletes in each sport, for the Summer and Winter Olympics.

Married and the mother of two sons, Caithness became a grandmother in 2008. She spends her free time with family and, when she has a chance, curling and playing golf at her home club in Edzell, Angus, where she was the Lady Captain from 2002 to '04.

THE WORLD CURLING FEDERATION

The World Curling Federation is the recognized governing body of curling in the world.

The WCF's first formal constitution was approved in 1967 under the original charter of the International Curling Federation in Perth, Scotland. The constitution was significantly adjusted in 1982, when the federation was declared independent from Scotland's Royal Caledonian Curling Club, to which its original constitution had been tied. In 1991, the official name was changed to World Curling Federation. Further significant changes were made in 1994.

The WCF has a four-part mandate:

- To represent curling internationally and to facilitate the growth of the sport through a network of member associations
- To formulate rules of the sport of curling for world competition and all other competitions approved by the WCF and to further the interests of world curling
- To conduct world curling competitions
- To provide co-operation and mutual understanding among member associations and to unite curlers throughout the world

CANADIAN CURLING ASSOCIATION BOARD OF GOVERNORS

CHAIR

Hugh Avery

The new chair of the Canadian Curling Association's board of governors is Hugh Avery of Halifax, who will also serve as a member of the CCA International Committee.

Avery was treasurer and then director of competitions at the Nova Scotia Curling Association before being elected to the CCA board in 2010. He first served the sport in Nova Scotia as a director and president of the Halifax Curling Club.

Avery began to curl at the Westville Curling Club in 1981, when he was in junior high. He has played in men's championships at the provincial level in both Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. A member of the Halifax Curling Club, he served as co-chair of the 2010 Tim Hortons Brier when it was held in Halifax.

Since being elected to the CCA's board, Avery has served as a member of the Governance Committee, the CEO Performance and Compensation Committee and the Appointments Suggestion Committee. He was the international representative to the World Curling Federation, chair of the Constitutional Review Committee and facilitator of the Member Association Code of Conduct Review Committee.

In addition to being association vice-chair in 2012, Avery was the championship liaison to the M&M Meat Shops Canadian Juniors in 2011 and the 2013 Tim Hortons Brier.

Professionally, Avery is a senior forensic accountant for the Department of Public Works and Government Services Canada's Forensic Accounting Management Group. He also lectures about fraud for the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Nova Scotia as part of its professional development program.

Avery graduated from St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, in 1989 with a bachelor of business administration degree. He continued his education at the Nova Scotia Community College in Pictou, where he earned a diploma in accounting in 1995. He was designated a chartered accountant in 1998, a certified anti-money-laundering specialist in 2005, and received a diploma in investigative and forensic accounting from the University of Toronto in 2008.

CCA ADMINISTRATION

The Canadian Curling Association's head office is located in Orleans, Ontario, at 1660 Vimont Court. The administration unit has a resident staff of 13, headed by chief executive officer Greg Strelaw. In addition, the CCA retains Warren Hansen under contract from his office in Vancouver as director of event operations and Al Cameron as director of communication and media relations from his Calgary office. The CCA has numerous event offices across the country and several dozen contractees who help administrate and manage the organization in support of the national office. It also retains a local marketing office and personnel in Winnipeg and a national marketing office and personnel in Toronto.

CEO
Greg Strelaw

Greg Strelaw works out of the CCA's national office in Orleans, Ontario, and has just completed his sixth year as chief executive officer.

Before joining the CCA in 2007, Strelaw was the CEO and executive director of Chicopee Ski & Summer Resort in Kitchener, Ontario, where he had been employed since 2002. Before that, he was for six years director of sport services for luge and bobsleigh for the Calgary Olympic Development Association (now WinSport Canada), which included his role as race chairman/race director for numerous international events, including the 1999 Viessmann Luge World Cup, the 2001 Skeleton World Championship and Women's Bobsleigh Championship.

He holds a master's degree in sports management from the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Florida, a master's of business administration from the University of Maine in Orono, Maine, and a bachelor of arts in commerce from the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario.

Strelaw's board experience includes the Canadian Ski Council, KidsAbility Centre For Child Development and the Conestoga College Program Advisory Committee. He is an international delegate to the World Curling Federation, a Canadian Sport Tourism Alliance board member, a member of the Sandra Schmirler Foundation Advisory Board — which raises funds for neonatal intensive-care units across Canada — and a Canadian Olympic Committee session member.

An athlete of note, Strelaw has been active in many sports, including soccer and track and field, and was a member of the United States hockey team program.

Married to Wendy, Strelaw has two children, Kristin and Michael. The family leads an active lifestyle that includes coaching and participating in competitive soccer, baseball, hockey and synchronized swimming.

CANADIAN CURLING ASSOCIATION AWARDS

Volunteer Of The Year

Samantha Stouffer of Brantford, Ontario, is the winner of the 2013 Volunteer of the Year Award in recognition of her significant contribution to the success of the Paris Curling Club.

Curling can't succeed without the commitment of its volunteers and Stouffer embodies the spirit of giving back to the sport of curling.

During the 2011-12 curling season, while attending university on a full-time basis, Stouffer embarked on a mission to create a program for children outside of the traditional classroom setting.

The result was a program called Field Trip Fridays. The program introduced curling to students in grades 2 through 8 at a cost of just $2 per student. Stouffer held classroom sessions to teach the students curling theory and then followed up later with a field trip to the Paris Curling Club, where the kids got out on the ice for some hands-on experience. The program proved to be wildly popular, with 942 students taking part. Enrolment in the program's second year was filled immediately — no advertising required!

The CCA's Marilyn Neily, left, and Ron Hutton present the 2013 Volunteer of the Year Award to Samantha Stouffer in recognition of her contribution to the Paris Curling Club.

Ray Kingsmith Executive Of The Year Award

Ray Kingsmith was a tireless worker for the sport of curling and the same can be said of Dianne Barker of Kamloops, British Columbia, the winner of the 2013 Ray Kingsmith Executive of the Year Award.

The award is presented annually to the volunteer who best exemplifies the dedication to curling and benevolence demonstrated by Calgary's Ray Kingsmith throughout his life.

Kingsmith was a super volunteer, the kind that doesn't come around very often. He gave freely of himself, his time and his resources to the sport of curling, which he so loved and believed in. He never asked for nor expected anything in return. Kingsmith passed away in 1988.

Barker, a life member of the Kamloops Curling Club, has been involved in curling as an athlete, administrator — she served on the boards of the Canadian Curling Association and Curl BC — and as an official, having worked at countless national and international competitions during the past 15 years.

Barker was the chief umpire at the 2011 world juniors in Perth, Scotland, and the 2012 world juniors in Östersund, Sweden. She was the deputy chief of competition at the 2010 Olympic Winter Games in Vancouver and will serve as an on-ice umpire at the upcoming Olympics in Sochi, Russia.

FORD HOT SHOTS

The Ford Hot Shots celebrated its 19th season at the 2013 Scotties Tournament of Hearts and Tim Hortons Brier.

When the Ford Motor Co. of Canada became part of international curling in 1995 as title sponsor of the Ford World Curling Championships, it introduced an opportunity for Hearts and Brier curlers to participate in individual skills competitions known as the Ford Hot Shots.

Points curling has long been part of the game in most corners of the curling world. While some countries have individual curling competitions, Ford Hot Shots is the first skills competition at major curling events that pits the abilities of championship curlers against one another's.

In each round of competition, each curler delivers six skill-testing shots — hit and stay, draw the button, draw the port, the raise, hit and roll and double takeout.

Each shot is worth a maximum five points, with the final location of the shooter being

World Financial Group Continental Cup

A jubilant Team North America celebrates after winning the 2013 World Financial Group Continental Cup. The final score was Team North America 37, Team World 23. The win avenged an embarrassing 235-165 loss a year earlier. The competition includes mixed doubles, singles, men's and women's team games, and mixed, men's and women's skins.

FINAL SCORE

Team World	23
Team North America	37

The World Financial Group Continental Cup brought together 12 of the best curling teams in the world — six representing Team World, six representing Team North America — facing off in a unique competition in January 2013 in Penticton, British Columbia.

A total of 60 points was available from the competition's four events — mixed doubles, singles, team and skins. When the competition was completed, Team North America was declared the winner with 37 points and awarded the Continental Cup trophy.

MIXED DOUBLES

Each side picked six doubles teams. A doubles team consists of two throwers — one man and one woman — who also provided the sweeping.

Points

One point was awarded for each doubles game won. In the case of a tie, each team received half a point. Six games were played and a total of six points awarded.

Rules

- Scoring was counted as in normal curling.
- Each game was eight ends. Ties were not broken.
- Each team was given 24 minutes of thinking time per game.

Team North America skips, from left, Jennifer Jones, Kevin Martin, Heather Nedohin, Heath McCormick, Allison Pottinger and Glenn Howard. The Americans capitalized on a nine-point lead going into the final day of action, winning four of six skins games to take back bragging rights. Team North America now leads the series 5-4.

- Each team threw five rocks per end. The player delivering the first rock of each end also delivered the last rock of the end; the player throwing the second rock delivered the third and fourth rocks of each end. This rotation could change from end to end and was simply determined by the player who delivered the first rock of each end.
- No rock could be removed from play until after the third rock of each end and any rocks it may have displaced came to rest.
- Two stationary rocks were positioned by the officials at the start of each end. One rock bisected the centre line, approximately eight feet in front of the house (the exact position of this rock was determined by the chief umpire before the competition, depending on ice conditions); the other was positioned at the back of the button so that it bisected the centre line and touched the tee.
- Before the start of each end, one team had an option. The team with the option had its choice of having its rock placed as a guard or having the rock positioned in the house behind the button. If the guard was chosen, the opponent's rock was positioned in the house or vice versa.
- The team with the rock out front as a guard delivered first and the team with the rock in the house delivered second (had last rock in the end).
- After the first end, the team that lost the previous end had the option.
- If an end was blanked, the team that blanked forfeited the option for the next end.

SINGLES COMPETITION

All of the teams participated in the six singles matches. The competition included six skill-testing shots and each player on each team threw at least one but not more than two shots. The other team members from each side acted as sweepers or skips.

Points

The winner of each game earned one point. Half a point was awarded to each side in the event of a tie. Six singles games were played, so the total points awarded was six.

Run-through

A rock was positioned at the back of the button so that it bisected the centre line and touched the tee. A second rock was positioned four feet in front of the house, also bisecting the centre line. The thrower attempted to hit the front rock and raise it onto the one at the back of the button, removing it from play. Points were awarded as follows:

Raise, hit and stay on the button	5
Raise, hit and stay in the four-foot	4
Raise, hit and stay in the eight-foot	3
Raise, hit and stay in the 12-foot	2
Raise, hit and roll out of the rings	1

Draw the button

The thrower attempted to throw a rock to the button. Points were awarded as follows:

Draw the button	5
Draw the four-foot	4
Draw the eight-foot	3
Draw the 12-foot	2
Draw the free guard zone	1

Draw the port

Using either an in-turn or out-turn, the thrower attempted to draw a rock to the button through a port between two short stones. If the played rock touched either of the stationary rocks as it attempted to pass by, no points were awarded. Points were awarded as follows:

Draw the button	5
Draw the four-foot	4
Draw the eight-foot	3
Draw the 12-foot	2
Draw the free guard zone area and be clearly past the two stationary stones	1

Raise

The thrower attempted to raise a stationary rock, which was positioned on the centre line in front of the house, into the house. Points were awarded as follows:

Raise the rock to any portion of the button	5
Raise the rock to any portion of the four-foot	4
Raise the rock to any portion of the eight-foot	3
Raise the rock to any portion of the 12-foot	2
Raise the rock forward so there is space between the two stones and the raised rock is still in play	1

America's Jennifer Jones scored two in the eighth end to pull off a 6-6 tie against Margaretha Sigfridsson and avoid a Team World sweep in round one of women's team play.

Team World's Eve Muirhead faced off against North America's Kevin Martin in the final mixed skins match, with Martin prevailing by a two-point margin.

Hit and roll

The thrower attempted to hit a stationary rock on the outside of the 12-foot circle and roll toward the button. Points were awarded as follows:

Hit and roll to the button	5
Hit and roll to the four-foot	4
Hit and roll to the eight-foot	3
Hit and roll to the 12-foot	2
Remove the stationary rock from play and have the shooter roll out of the rings	1

Double takeout

The thrower attempted a double takeout. The thrower had to knock both of the stationary rocks out of the house. Points were awarded as follows:

Make the double and have the shooter stop touching the button	5
Make the double and have the shooter stop touching the four-foot	4
Make the double and have the shooter stop touching the eight-foot	3
Make the double and have the shooter stop touching the 12-foot	2

SKINS COMPETITION

Aggressive strategy combined with exceptional shotmaking was the highlight of this final battle for points. A total of six skins games — two mixed, two women's and two men's — was played.

Team World skips, from left, Thomas Ulsrud, Margaretha Sigfridsson, Niklas Edin, Mirjam Ott, Tom Brewster and Eve Muirhead. Entering the final day of competition and still mathematically in contention, Team World came up flat, losing all three final skins matches. "The North Americans played very well here; they deserved to win," said captain David Hay.

America's Glenn Howard performs a happy dance after scoring the cup-winning skin and setting off a wild celebration with his mates. "I'm just ecstatic," said Howard.

Points

Five points were available for each skins game. The first six ends of each game were worth half a point and the last two were worth one point each. Six skins games were played and a total of 30 points awarded.

Rules

- Each game consisted of eight ends.
- Each team was allocated 32 minutes of thinking time per game. If a team exceeded the allotted time, the game was stopped. Each team retained the points already earned in the game and the remaining points were forfeited to the non-violating team.
- Each end was referred to as a skin. To count a skin when a team had last rock, it had to count at least two points. When a team didn't have last rock, it had to steal at least one point to count a skin.
- If a team scored only one point when it had last rock, it not only lost the hammer, but the end was carried over, which meant the points at stake were carried over to the next end.
- If an end was blanked, a carryover took place and the team that blanked the end forfeited last rock to its opponent.
- If the final end of a skins game resulted in a carryover, the two teams determined who would claim the carryover points by selecting a player from each team to deliver one rock to the button with sweeping. The team that had last rock in the last end shot first.

After she died suddenly in January 2000, the CBC Legacy Award was renamed in her memory and in honour of the great work she had done for curling on behalf of the CBC. The awards began after the CBC was presented with the Golden Rings Award by the International Olympic Association for its excellence in broadcasting curling from the Nagano games. CBC decided to fund an annual award for junior curlers in Canada as an ongoing legacy of the Golden Rings Award and established the CBC Legacy Awards.

FRANCES BRODIE AWARD

Lead Corinna Scholz of Germany is the 2013 winner of the Frances Brodie Award. The award winner is selected annually by competitors in the World Women's Curling Championship as the player who best combines playing ability with sportsmanship. The award was named in honour of Scotland's Frances Brodie, one of curling's pioneering women. Brodie helped establish the women's world championship and chaired the first such event in Perth, Scotland, in 1979. The award was presented for the first time in 1989.

Twenty-two-year-old Scottish skip Eve Muirhead dropped to the ice in celebration after picking out a Swedish counter with her first rock to score a single and win the world championship.

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES

The curling community will always remember eight great champions of the sport who died in the past year. Each played an integral role and made significant contributions to curling in Canada and worldwide.

Arleen Day

The curling world was saddened to learn that 63-year-old Arleen Day of Regina passed away on September 4, 2012, as a result of complications from lung cancer. Day, a former Saskatchewan women's champion and a long-time curling umpire, was first diagnosed with cancer in the spring of 2010.

Day acquired her Level I officiating certificate in 1983. By 1985, she was a certified Level III official and began to direct officiating courses at both the provincial and national level.

Day also became involved in the administrative side of the sport, serving as president of the Saskatchewan Ladies Curling Association in 1989-90. She played an active role in the amalgamation of the Canadian Ladies Curling Association and the Canadian Curling Association in 1990.

A long-time member of the CCA's officiating committee, Day was instrumental in the development of the umpiring system used today by the CCA and the World Curling Federation.

Day skipped Saskatchewan to a third-place finish at the 1982 Scott Tournament of Hearts in her hometown, losing the semifinal to eventual champion Colleen Jones of Nova Scotia.

Day's officiating career as an umpire was almost unparalleled. Her first assignment was at the 1989 Canadian juniors. She served as the alternate and head umpire for many national and international championships, including the Scotties Tournament of Hearts, Tim Hortons Brier, World Financial Group Continental Cup, Capital One Canada Cup, Tim Hortons Roar of the Rings and the Ford Worlds. In 2010, she was an umpire for the WCF at the Olympic Winter Games in Vancouver.

Day was inducted into the Regina Sports Hall of Fame as a builder in recognition of her accomplishments as an administrator and umpire. She was a Level V umpire, the highest in officiating.

Day was presented with the CCA Award of Achievement in 1997 and was an honorary life member of the Saskatchewan Curling Association.

Sylvia Fedoruk

Former Saskatchewan lieutenant-governor Sylvia Fedoruk of Saskatoon passed away on September 26, 2012, after suffering complications from a fall. She was 85.

Fedoruk, a nuclear scientist whose résumé was thick with exploits, was also a prominent athlete with a wide array of trophies and medals, many of them in curling.

At a forerunner to the Canadian Women's Curling Championship in Oshawa in 1960, Fedoruk — playing third for Saskatchewan's Joyce McKee — was part of the first unofficial Canadian women's championship team. Representing the West, they won two straight in a best-of-three series against Eastern champion Ruth Smith of Quebec.

The following year they made it official, going 9-0 in Ottawa at the Diamond D Championship, the first sanctioned national women's curling championship, which eventually became the Scotties Tournament of Hearts.

Fedoruk, who was instrumental in helping to develop the first cobalt radiation unit, now widely used in the treatment of cancer, served as president of the Canadian Ladies Curling Association in 1972 and was inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame in 1986.

Fedoruk played basketball with the University of Saskatchewan Huskiettes in the late 1940s, serving as co-captain on an undefeated 1949 squad that won the western interuniversity title. She also excelled at hockey, volleyball, golf, track and field and was a championship softball player in the 1950s with the Saskatoon Ramblers.

Philip Dawson

Philip Dawson, a former president of the International Curling Federation — now World Curling Federation — passed away at his home in Aberdeen, Scotland, on December 1, 2012, at the age of 92.

Dawson was a highly regarded practising solicitor and was a member of The Society of Advocates in Aberdeen.

An avid curler, Dawson's enthusiasm for the game led to his election as president of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club in 1980-81 and eventually president of the International Curling Federation in 1985 at the final Air Canada Silver Broom in Glasgow.

Dawson inherited the 1984 ICF decision that saw the sponsorship of Air Canada — it had sponsored the world men's curling championship since 1968 — terminated in 1985 in favour of Hexagon International. The Hexagon experiment didn't prove successful and three years later, when Dawson completed his presidential term, Hexagon withdrew its sponsorship.

Keith Reilly

The curling world lost one of its greatest ambassadors on December 18, 2012, when Keith Reilly of Barrie, Ontario, passed away after a long illness he had fought with dignity. He was 74.

Reilly made his first mark in curling in 1967 playing lead for Alf Phillips Jr.'s Toronto team, which won the Ottawa-Hull Brier with a 9-1 record. Reilly was named the all-star lead.

Retired after a 35-year career as a teacher, Reilly was part of a group that founded the Ontario Curling Development Council, which became the Ontario Curling Federation and is now the Ontario Curling Council. His role as an educator made him the perfect candidate to become one of Ontario's best-known master course conductors.

Passionate about all aspects of curling, Reilly not only taught many courses but eventually developed his skills as a coach. He coached many teams, including those of 1982 and '83 Ontario junior women's champion Alison Goring, 1984 Ontario junior champion Kristin Holman, 1983 Canadian junior women's champions — Goring, with Holman at third — and Goring's championship-winning teams at the 1983 Canada Winter Games and the 1990 Scott Tournament of Hearts.

In addition to his roles as player, instructor and coach, Reilly was one of the pioneer officials of the game, starting his officiating career at the 1985 Canadian mixed at his home Bayview Country Club. During the next 27 years, Reilly worked as an official at many Canadian and world events.

He was awarded the Canadian Curling Association Award of Achievement in 1992.

John Doty

After a six-year struggle with lymphoma, Ottawa's John Doty passed away on December 22, 2012, at the age of 86.

Before retiring in 1992, Doty was a business owner and insurance broker. He was a gifted artist, life-long low-handicap golfer and an avid and accomplished curler. In 1978, he played on the Ontario senior men's championship team.

Doty believed in giving back to the sports that gave him so much, serving as committee chair and president of the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club, the Ontario Curling Association and the Governor General's Curling Club. He chaired the 1993 Brier host committee when it was held in Ottawa, and was the recipient of the Ray Kingsmith Executive of the Year Award in 1994.

Don MacLeod

Former Canadian Curling Association president Don MacLeod passed away after a brief illness on March 2, 2013, at the age of 80.

Born and raised in Thunder Bay, Ontario, MacLeod was employed by the City of Thunder Bay for 37 years, his last six as chief administrative officer.

MacLeod was very involved in the community and in particular the curling world. He served as secretary-treasurer of the Northwestern Ontario Curling Association for 19 years before being elected to the CCA's board of directors in 1986.

He was elected president of the CCA in March 1990 but served only a three-month term. A new chapter in curling's history began on June 15, 1990, with the formation of the new Canadian Curling Association. The three previous national organizations — Canadian Curling Association, Canadian Ladies Curling Association and Curl Canada — relinquished their charters and ceased operation.

MacLeod was inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame in 1990.

Clarence "Shorty" Jenkins

Long-time Canadian icemaker Clarence "Shorty" Jenkins — known equally for the swingy ice that he produced and the pink cowboy hat that he wore — passed away on April 11, 2013, after a lengthy illness. He was 77.

Jenkins was one of the first icemakers to experiment with water, pebbling, scraping patterns and tempering stones, always in search of a little more crowd-pleasing swing in the ice. During his career, Jenkins was the head ice technician at many Ontario, Canadian and world championships, and at TSN Skins games.

In addition to the work he did on the ice for the Ontario Curling Association, Canadian Curling Association and World Curling Federation, Jenkins played a major role in the development of instructional manuals on the craft of icemaking. He was always willing to share his knowledge with his peers, wherever in the world he worked.

Jenkins was inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame as a builder in 2001.

Norm Allen

Norm Allen of Kelowna, British Columbia, passed away on June 2, 2013, after a long and courageous battle with lung cancer.

A Curl BC director from 2005 to 2008, Allen also served as the association's head statistician. In addition to doing stats at many Canadian Curling Association events, including the Hearts and Brier, he was the deputy manager of results for the curling venue leading up to and during the 2010 Olympic Winter Games and Paralympics in Vancouver. His role was to ensure that all of the software and hardware requirements for results tested properly in advance of the Olympics as well as during the Games.

Allen served his country with great pride and passion for 25 years in the Royal Canadian Navy.

CANADIAN CURLING HALL OF FAME

Three new members have been inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame — curlers Cathy King and Sonja Gaudet and former Canadian Curling Association chair Laura Lochanski.

Nominations to the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame are submitted to the hall selection committee, which annually selects inductees it feels meet the criteria in one of six categories — curler, team, builder, curler/builder, builder/media and executive honour roll.

CATHY KING Curler

Edmonton's Cathy King made history in 2012 when she became the first Canadian curler to capture junior, women's and senior women's national titles.

King skipped back-to-back national junior champion teams in 1977 and '78, winning 19 of 20 games.

In women's play, King appeared in seven Scotties Tournament of Hearts from 1995 to 2006, claiming the title in 1998 in Regina with a last-rock win against Ontario's Anne Merklinger. A year later, skipping Team Canada, she finished runner-up, losing the final to Nova Scotia's Colleen Jones. In 1995, when King made her first Hearts appearance, she lost the final to Manitoba's Connie Laliberte.

King completed her historical hat trick in Abbotsford, British Columbia, where she skipped her team to the 2012 Canadian senior women's title with a 9-5 victory over Cathy Cunningham of Newfoundland and Labrador.

A bronze medallist in the 1998 world women's championship in Kamloops, British Columbia, King took gold at the 2013 world senior women's championship in Fredericton.

King twice reached the national stage in mixed play, in 1988 with Ken Ursuliak and in '94 with Les Rogers.

Cathy King, Sonja Gaudet and Laura Lochanski

SONJA GAUDET

Curler

Canada's most decorated wheelchair curler, Sonja Gaudet of Vernon, British Columbia, is showing no signs of slowing down. A gold medallist at the 2006 Paralympic Winter Games in Torino, Italy, playing lead for Chris Daw, Gaudet claimed her second Paralympic gold in Vancouver in 2010, this time playing lead for Jim Armstrong.

Gaudet — who also won gold at the 2009, '11 and '13 world wheelchair championships, all with Armstrong as the skip — is the first athlete to be inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame based on her wheelchair curling achievements.

LAURA LOCHANSKI

Executive Honour Roll

Edmonton's Laura Lochanski first served the sport of curling in Alberta as a director and president of the Granite Curling Club. She was president of the Northern Alberta Curling Association and of the Alberta Curling Federation before being elected to the Canadian Curling Association board in 2008. She served as association chair in 2012.

A curler of note, Lochanski has played in women's and mixed championships at the local, regional and provincial level and has dedicated many hours as an organizer for a number of events, including the 2002 Alberta juvenile championship, '03 Alberta men's, '04 Alberta seniors, '07 Ford World Men's and the '09 Tim Hortons Roar of the Rings Canadian Curling Trials.

Canadian Curling Association chair Ron Hutton, left, and CCA governor Bob Osborne, far right, present the Dominion Member Association Cup to Ontario Curling Association past-president Joan O'Leary and OCA president Ian McGillis. Ontario earned 89 points last season, thanks in part to two first-place and two third-place performances.

The Canadian Curling Association has created a provincial-territorial ranking system to measure member association performances at all of the national curling championships it operates and sanctions.

The system was implemented in 2010-11 by the CCA, which is made up of 14 member associations representing Canada's 10 provinces, Northern Ontario and the territories of Yukon, Northwest Territories and Nunavut.

Member associations are ranked based on their final positions in eight annual national championships — the Canadian mixed, M&M Meat Shops Canadian junior men's and women's, Scotties Tournament of Hearts, Tim Hortons Brier, Canadian senior men's and women's and Canadian wheelchair.

The program was created to generate greater interest among curling fans across the country. For years, curling enthusiasts have enjoyed regional rivalries, debating whether their province or territory was better than another. The new system adds legitimacy to a basic ranking system, which tracks how member associations perform.

Under the new system, points totals and results are tracked and updated after each applicable Canadian championship throughout the curling season.

The 2012-13 winners were announced June 15 at the CCA's National Curling Congress in Ottawa. Based on the highest average points, the Dominion Member Association Cup, presented by TSN, was awarded to Ontario, with 89 points or an average of 11.125 per event.

Ontario's total was bolstered by two first-place performances — Cory Heggstad's at the mixed and Rachel Homan's at the Hearts — and a runner-up finish by Howard Rajala at the seniors. It also had two third-place finishes — Glenn Howard's at the Brier and Jamie Sinclair's at the juniors.

Nova Scotia — the member association making the biggest year-to-year improvement on an average points basis — received the Governor's Cup for an average increase over the eight events of 2.25 points year over year.

Nova Scotia's advancement was buoyed by a gold-medal performance by Colleen Pinkney at the seniors, silver by Brent MacDougall at the mixed and bronze by Stuart Thompson at the juniors.

PAUL McLEAN AWARD

Sportswriter Larry Wood is the 2013 winner of the Paul McLean Award.

The award was created in 2007 by the Canadian Curling Reporters, in conjunction with TSN, in memory of McLean, a TSN executive producer, and his dedication to the sport of curling. McLean passed away on December 14, 2005, at his home in Brampton, Ontario, after a two-year battle with cancer. He was 39.

The award is presented annually to a person in the media who has made an outstanding contribution to the sport of curling from behind the scenes.

A native of Calgary, Wood has written stories about curling for more than 50 years and covered his 50th Brier in 2011 in London, Ontario.

A long-time journalist at the Calgary Herald, Wood retired as sports editor in 2002.

TSN's Scott Higgins, left, presents the 2013 Paul McLean Award to sportswriter Larry Wood for his outstanding contribution to the sport of curling from behind the scenes.

His credits include writing for and editing the Canadian Curling News from 1965 to the present; acting as the Canadian Curling Association historian from 1983 to '89; and writing for and acting as associate editor of Extra End magazines since 1981. The volunteer keeper of curling's records since 1983, Wood has also been the editor of the daily newspapers at all Season of Champions events going back to 1990.

An avid curler, Wood was an active member of the Calgary Curling Club for almost 20 years during the 1960s and '70s. He was inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame in 2002.

SCOTTY HARPER AWARD

Kevin Palmer of The Curling News is the winner of the 2013 Scotty Harper Award for the year's best curling story.

Famous Fifts And More, Palmer's humorous account of the early days of the 2012 Tim Hortons Brier, was chosen as the winner by the faculty of the School of Journalism and Communication at Carleton University in Ottawa.

The award is named for the late Scotty Harper, whose curling reports in the Winnipeg Free Press enlivened the paper for many years. Not awarded for a number of years, the award was re-introduced in 2005 with the assistance of the Canadian Curling Association.

PROUD LICENSEE/SUPPLIER

THE 2014 OLYMPIC

For the fifth time in Olympic Winter Games history, curling will be a full-medal sport in 2014, when the 3,000-seat “Ice Cube” Curling Center at Olympic Park in Sochi, Russia, hosts the curling competition from February 10 to 21.

The Games officially welcomed curling in July 1992, when the International Olympic Committee announced that curling would be recognized for the first time as a medal sport at the 1998 Olympic Winter Games in Japan. Curling made its Olympic debut as a full-medal sport February 9 to 15, 1998, at Kazakoshi Park Arena in Karuizawa, Japan, about an hour from downtown Nagano.

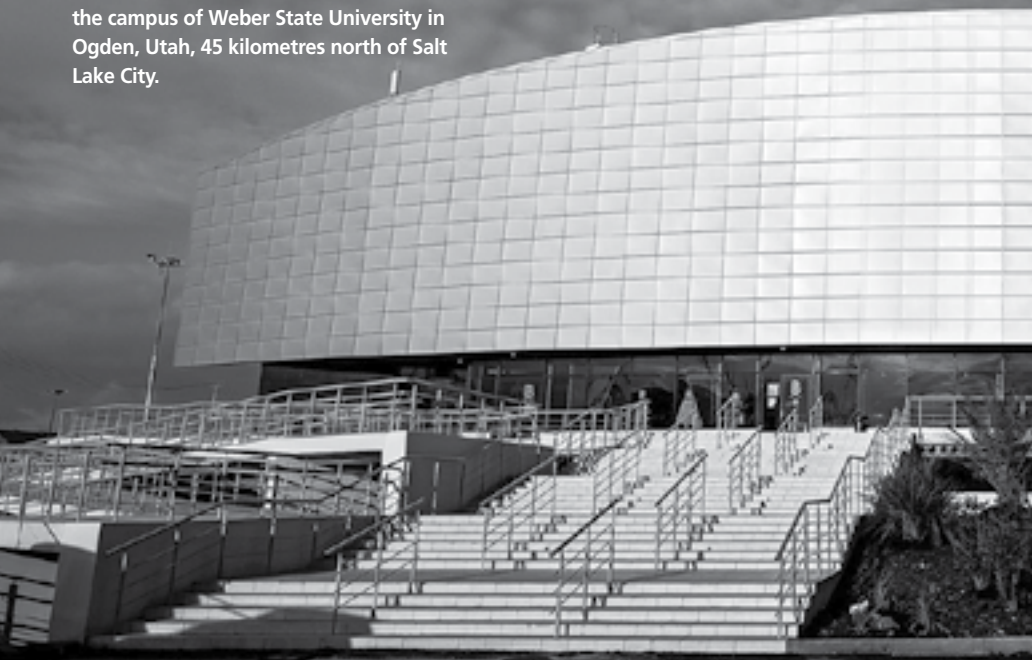

Curling made its next Olympic appearance in Salt Lake City, Utah, February 11 to 22, 2002, at The Ice Sheet arena on the campus of Weber State University in Ogden, Utah, 45 kilometres north of Salt Lake City.

Four years later, the Olympic curling competition took place February 13 to 24, 2006, at the Palaghiaccio, a multi-purpose ice arena in Pinerolo, Italy, 35 kilometres southwest of Torino.

Vancouver played host to the 2010 Olympics and the curling events were held at the 5,600-seat Vancouver Olympic/Paralympic Centre February 16 to 27.

In 2014, the draw is a 10-team format played on four sheets of ice. As a result, two teams from each competition will have a bye on each draw.

The 10 men’s and 10 women’s teams will play in a round robin, followed by four-team, sudden-death playoffs. The losers of the first round of playoffs will play for the bronze medal.

WINTER GAMES

THE ROAD TO SOCHI

The World Curling Federation has 50 member associations, but only 10 are allowed to participate at the medal level of the 2014 Games.

Although Scotland, Wales and England compete individually in the world championships, Great Britain has only one entry in the Olympics. For 2014, only Scotland was allocated Olympic qualifying points for Great Britain.

Russia, as host nation, has a berth in both the men's and women's competitions. Seven berths were assigned on the basis of points accumulated at the 2012 and '13 world championships. (Points were awarded according to the final ranking of each of the 12 participating teams as follows: 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1.)

The remaining two berths will be determined at a new WCF Olympic qualifying event to be staged in the 3,500-seat BLZ Arena in Füssen, Germany, December 10 to 15. Any member association that earned points at the 2012 or '13 world championships or participated in the 2011 worlds is eligible.

2014 CANADIAN OLYMPIC QUALIFICATION PROCESS

The Canadian Curling Association's qualification process for the 2014 Olympic Winter Games was designed to be fair to all competing teams, reward consistent play and ensure that the country's best curlers represent Canada in Sochi. The process was announced in January 2011.

The 18 men's and 18 women's teams who qualified for the Tim Hortons Roar Of The Rings Canadian Curling Trials or Capital One Road To The Roar pre-trials did so by winning the 2011 or 2012 Canada Cup, or by their final standings on the Canadian Team Ranking System in 2011-12 and 2012-13, and the highest two-year CTRS totals based on the past two seasons.

Eight men's and eight women's teams will compete in the 2013 Roar Of The Rings curling trials. Round-robin preliminaries, followed by three-team playoffs, will take place in Winnipeg at the MTS Centre December 1 to 8.

Six teams of each gender have qualified directly into the trials, while the final two berths for each will emerge from a pre-trials competition.

The 2013 Road To The Roar pre-trials, to be held November 5 to 10 at the Kitchener Memorial Auditorium, includes 12 men's and 12 women's teams competing in a triple knockout. Four teams of each gender will advance to a modified Page playoff, with two men's and two women's teams qualifying for the trials.
