FEDERATION

PRESIDENT

Kate Caithness, CBE

Scotland's Kate Caithness is the first female president of the World Curling Federation and the first female president of any Olympic winter sports federation.

First elected president of the WCF in April 2010 and re-elected without opposition in 2012, '14 and '18, Caithness has been involved with the sport of curling since the 1980s. As a member of Scotland's Royal Caledonian Curling Club, she went from playing the game to putting something back into the sport in the late 1990s. She served as president of the RCCC Ladies' Branch in 1997-98, then became an RCCC representative to the World Curling Federation.

Since 2000, Caithness has been the driving force behind the WCF's development of wheelchair curling. She was on the team that created the first World Wheelchair Curling Championship and was instrumental in the sport's inclusion at the 2006 Paralympic Winter Games in Turin, Italy.

From 2005 to '09 Caithness was an elected member of the International Paralympic Committee's five-person Sports Council Management Committee and she served on the Paralympic Games Committee from 2006 to '09.

Caithness was elected vice-president of the WCF in 2006 and served two two-year terms under former president Les Harrison.

In March 2011, Caithness was appointed to the Olympic Program Commission, responsible for reviewing and analyzing the sports, disciplines and events program, as well as the number of athletes in each sport, for the Summer and Winter Olympics.

Married and the mother of two sons, Caithness has four grandchildren. She spends her free time with family and, when she has a chance, curling and playing golf at her home club in Edzell, Angus, where she was the Lady Captain from 2002 to '04.

THE WORLD CURLING FEDERATION

The World Curling Federation is the recognized governing body of curling in the world.

The WCF's first formal constitution was approved in 1967 under the original charter of the International Curling Federation in Perth, Scotland. The constitution was significantly adjusted in 1982, when the federation was declared independent from Scotland's Royal Caledonian Curling Club, to which its original constitution had been tied. In 1990, the official name was changed to World Curling Federation. Further significant changes were made in 1994.

The WCF has a four-part mandate:

- To represent curling internationally and to facilitate the growth of the sport through a network of member associations
- To formulate rules of the sport of curling for world competition and all other competitions approved by the WCF and to further the interests of world curling
- To conduct world curling competitions
- To provide co-operation and mutual understanding among member associations and to unite curlers throughout the world

CURLING CANADA 2019-20 BOARD OF GOVERNORS

MITCH MINKEN Chair

Mitch Minken of Swift Current, Sask., was elected Chair of the Curling Canada Board of Governors during the 2020 Annual General Meeting, which was held virtually on Sept.

26 via a Zoom session with representatives of Curling Canada's 14 Member Associations.

Minken was elected to the Board in 2019 after many years of dedicated service to the sport in his home province of Saskatchewan. As a volunteer, he has served on the Board of the Swift Current Curling Club as well as CURLSASK, including two years as president before joining the Curling Canada board.

Additionally, he has volunteered for more than a decade with the Children's Wish Foundation of Canada.

Minken also has worked as a volunteer at numerous Saskatchewan championship events, including the 2010 (Team Transportation) and 2016 (Director, Rocks and Ice) Women's World Curling Championships in Swift Current, the 2018 Tim Hortons Brier in Regina (Rocks and Ice) and the 2018 Home Hardware Canada Cup in Estevan (Rocks and Ice).

CURLING CANADA ADMINISTRATION

KATHERINE HENDERSON
Chief executive officer

Katherine Henderson, Curling Canada's chief executive officer, has a wealth of experience in leadership roles in sports, marketing and brand management that spans more than 25 years.

Henderson assumed the role of CEO in April 2016 and has since led the organization into an era of curling growth and sound business practices, coupled with consistent world-best results on the ice from Canada's national curling teams.

Henderson joined Curling Canada after her role as senior vice-president of marketing and revenue for the Toronto 2015 PanAm/Parapan American Games organizing committee, with which she played a significant role in putting together the most successful non-Olympic sponsorship program in Canadian history, with a who's who of Canada's corporate community. She also oversaw the negotiation of broadcast rights for the games and under her watch the PanAm/Parapan games broke records for attendance, ticket sales and television ratings.

Before that, she spent seven years with the Whirlpool Corporation, filling prominent leadership roles in marketing and general management for the Canadian and North American divisions. She has also worked in marketing/branding roles with other high-profile companies, including Colgate Palmolive Canada, Campbell Soup Canada and General Mills Canada.

"Curling Canada is in the midst of an era of unprecedented financial stability, thanks to the success of our championship events as well as the sound management practices we have put in place within our organization," said Henderson. "At the high-performance level, our athletes continue to represent our country with class and distinction, while we continue to grow the game from the grassroots on up by supporting our country's curling centres with the Curling Assistance Program, Adult Learn to Curl programming and youth curling initiatives. It truly is an exciting time to be involved in the sport of curling."

A long-time runner in her spare time, Henderson holds a bachelor of science degree in nutrition from the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario, a master's in business administration from the Schulich School of Business at York University in Toronto and a master's in theological studies from the University of Toronto.

FOR THE LOVE OF CURLING SCHOLARSHIPS

SUPPORT THE FUTURE OF OUR SPORT

WHILE TODAY'S YOUNG CURLERS WILL shape the landscape of the sport for years to come, they also face the challenge of honing their life skills off the ice.

And thanks to the generous support of the Canada-wide curling community, Curling Canada is proud to award 10 $2,500 For the Love of Curling scholarships to deserving youth curlers who best demonstrate athletic and academic prowess as well as community leadership.

Through Curling Canada's philanthropic program, donors are having a direct impact on the sport of curling and a strong influence on the next generation of leaders.

As part of the scholarship application, athletes were asked to write a two-page essay with this year's theme, which focused on the COVID-19 pandemic.

Applicants were asked to reflect on "how you, your teammates and your curling community were impacted by the 2020 Coronavirus/ COVID-19 outbreak. During these challenging times of social and physical distancing, event cancellations and the curling season suspending early, where are you finding inspiration, strength and positivity, and how are you role-modelling these same attributes for those around you?"

The scholarships not only encourage tomorrow's leaders to remain contributing members of their community but allow them financial flexibility to pursue curling's highest accolades while balancing their educational endeavours.

"The For the Love of Curling scholarship is unique in the sense that it provides the up-and-coming stars of our sport a platform to have their voices heard," says 2015 scholarship recipient Karsten Sturmey. "As not only a returning member of the selection committee, but as a previous recipient myself, I have been extremely grateful to witness the impacts of the scholarship program from both sides."

Sturmey knows this year's selections are in need more than ever because of the ever-evolving COVID-19 situation and its impacts on education.

"As a past scholar myself, I know firsthand that the financial support I was fortunate enough to receive in 2015 went a long way. What I cannot begin to comprehend is how impactful the scholarship will be on this year's recipients," says Sturmey. "Hundreds of thousands of students across the country were unable to find summer employment, which is crucial for covering tuition expenses or the costs associated with playing a sport at a competitive level."

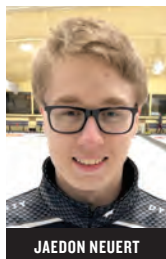

Through the For the Love of Curling scholarships, the curling community and Curling Canada continue to make meaningful investments in the future generation of our sport.

"This year's scholarship program will make a massive difference in the lives of 10 very deserving athletes across the country," says Sturmey. "During uncertain times, people gravitate towards things that offer certainty. As such, it is truly heartwarming to see that Curling Canada is steadfast in its commitment to supporting the future of our sport, and through their scholarship program, to providing stability in unstable times."

The 2020-21 scholarship recipients are:

- Catherine Clifford of Chauvin, Alberta, who's studying kinesiology at the University of Alberta in Edmonton
- Gabriel Dyck of Edmonton, who's studying kinesiology at the University of Alberta in Edmonton
- Lauren Ferguson of Spring Valley, Prince Edward Island, who's studying engineering at Dalhousie University in Halifax
- Abby Marks of St. Albert, Alberta, who's studying nutrition and food sciences at the University of Alberta in Edmonton

CURLING CANADA AWARDS

CURLING CANADA VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR

Bill Shorter of Deep River, Ontario, is the winner of the 2018-19 Volunteer of the Year Award in recognition of his significant contribution to the success of the Deep River Curling and Squash Club.

Few aspects of the club's operation haven't been touched by the influence of Shorter; as club president he is responsible for the entire physical operation of the club.

Shorter works with the club's junior and Learn to Curl programs and was active in making sure that the club complies with the guidelines established by the passing of Rowan's Law regarding concussion safety in youth sport.

Shorter also volunteers as the club's ice and property director, heading the crew of ice technicians, and organizes work parties that produce stellar ice conditions for club members.

His greatest volunteer contribution came when the club was facing significant challenges with its ice plant as the 2017-18 season was winding down. At season's end, Shorter co-ordinated a fundraising effort, as well as volunteer work parties, to upgrade the ice plant and replace all of the floor piping to completely restore the ice surface.

And if that effort wasn't enough, Shorter also worked with the local fire department to produce an Ammonia Safety Protocol as well as a Fire Protection Policy for the Deep River Club.

CURLING CANADA AWARD OF ACHIEVEMENT

Toronto's George Karrys has won the 2020 Curling Canada Award of Achievement.

Presented annually, Curling Canada's Award of Achievement recognizes an individual who has contributed significantly to curling in one of four areas — builder, technical development (instructor, coach, official, ice technician), marketing and media.

Karrys has been involved with curling in just about every way imaginable.

As an athlete, he was a member of Canada's Curling Canada governor George Cooke presents George Karrys with the 2020 Award of Achievement in recognition of his many and varied contributions to the sport of curling.

Olympic curling team that won silver at the 1998 Olympic Winter Games in Nagano, Japan, throwing lead rocks for Mike Harris.

As a journalist, Karrys wrote, edited and eventually owned The Curling News — the longest-running publication devoted to the Roaring Game. He also wrote for the Ontario Curling Report, Sun Media and Postmedia, and contributed as an analyst to the FAN 590 in Toronto, CBC and Sportsnet.

As a volunteer, he's done charity work that raised money for various causes over the years.

Karrys has even been an actor, appearing in the 2002 movie Men With Brooms, for which he also served as a technical consultant.

Karrys continues to promote the sport of curling through his activity with The Curling News, social media and through his involvement with the Men/Women of Curling annual calendars, which raise funds in part for Curling Canada's For the Love of Curling scholarship program.

JANET ARNOTT EXCEPTIONAL COACH AWARD

Lindsay Sparkes of Courtenay, British Columbia, is the inaugural winner of the Janet Arnott Exceptional Coach Award. The award is named after long-time Manitoba coach Janet Arnott, who passed away on June 24, 2019, after a short battle with cancer.

The award — which recognizes exceptional coaching contributions and accomplishments over a significant period of time — is presented only under special circumstances to an individual who has made a difference in the sport of curling as a result of his or her contribution to the development, well-being or sport-for-life aspirations of an athlete, athletes or team.

Sparkes blazed a trail for female curling coaches in Canada. An accomplished athlete, she is a three-time Canadian champion, twice as a skip, and also won a world championship in 1985 playing third for North Vancouver's Linda Moore. She also won gold at the 1988 Olympic Winter Games in Calgary — when curling was a demonstration sport — as third for Moore.

Sparkes then moved to coaching and spent 10 years as Canada's national women's coach and team leader, working with Canadian teams at world championships and the 1998 and 2002 Olympics, and has participated in numerous high-performance camps across Canada.

The 2019 world mixed champions: from left, Canadian coach Jim Waite, lead Sara Oliver, second Brendan Bilawka, third Meghan Walter and skip Colin Kurz. With its 6-5 win over Germany's Andy Kapp, Canada became the first ever back-to-back world mixed champions and only the second team to go undefeated since the event began in 2015.

Germany's Petra Tschetsch, Benny Kapp, Pia-Lisa Schöll and Andy Kapp take a timeout in the final. Two sweeping miscalls in the last end may have cost them the title.

 Won bronze-medal game against South Korea 6-5

Norway's Harald Skarsheim Rian, Wilhelm Naess, Erin Mesloe and Ingvild Skaga bounced back from a disappointing semifinal loss to Canada to win bronze. Down by three at the break, Norway battled back to tie the game in six. South Korea took a single in seven and then Naess, with his last rock, executed a perfect raise takeout to score two for the win.

The 2020 Canadian mixed champions: from left, Quebec's Jean-Sébastien Roy, Amélie Blais, Dan deWaard and Brenda Nicholls. The foursome capped an unblemished week with a 6-5 win over New Brunswick's Grant Odishaw. The win — in front of an enthusiastic hometown crowd — is just Quebec's second gold medal since the event began in 1964.

OK TIRE & BKT TIRES CONTINENTAL CUP

Presented by Service Experts

THE SPORTS CENTRE AT WESTERN FAIR DISTRICT
LONDON, ONTARIO » JANUARY 9 TO 12, 2020

PHOTOS: MICHAEL BURNS PHOTOGRAPHY

It's no secret in the world of curling that the best international teams are at the top of their game and continue to be formidable opponents on the world stage. That was proven once again when Team Europe, returning with the same winning lineup as last year, defended its Continental Cup title with a convincing 37.5 to 22.5 victory over Team Canada.

FINAL SCORE

Team Canada	22.5
Team Europe	37.5

The OK Tire & BKT Tires Continental Cup brought together 12 of the best curling teams in the world — six representing Team Europe, six representing Team Canada — facing off in a unique competition in January 2020 in London, Ontario. A total of 60 points was available from the competition's four events — mixed doubles, traditional men's and women's team play, skins and team scramble. When the four-day competition was completed, Team Europe was declared the winner with 37.5 points and awarded the Continental Cup trophy.

MIXED DOUBLES

Each side picked nine mixed doubles teams. A doubles team consists of two throwers — one man and one woman — who also provided the sweeping.

Points

One point was awarded for each doubles game won. In the case of a tie, each team received half a point. Nine games were played and a total of nine points awarded.

In mixed doubles action, Sarah Wilkes and Brad Thiessen prevailed 10-4 over Team Europe's Vicky Wright and Grant Hardie to give Team Canada a much-needed point.

TEAM COMPETITION

The team competition is a game of regular curling. Each side played a total of six eight-end games (three men's and three women's).

Points

One point was awarded for each game won. In the case of a tie, each side received half a point. A total of six games was played and a total of six points was awarded.

TEAM SCRAMBLE

With an emphasis on how curlers perform with unfamiliar teammates — often opponents — men's and women's teams were mixed to form new same-gender lineups. Mixed-gender teams also competed in the scramble discipline. Front and back-end teammates could not be in the same lineup.

Points

One point was available for each game won. In the case of a tie, each side received half a point. Twelve games were played and a total of 12 points awarded.

SKINS COMPETITION

Aggressive strategy combined with exceptional shotmaking was the highlight of this final battle for points. A total of six skins games — two mixed, two women's and two men's — was played.

A wild celebration erupts and the bench begins to empty when Team Europe wins the race to 30.5 points. Needing just four of 18 available points heading into the final draw of the Continental Cup, Sweden's Oskar Eriksson — skipping a mixed squad against Team Canada's Kevin Koe — delivered the winning blow with a two-skin payoff in the fourth end.

Points

Five points were available for each skins game in Round 1. The first six ends of each game were worth half a point and the last two were worth one point each. In Round 2, the first four ends of each game were worth half a point and the final four one point each for a total of six points. Six skins games were played and a total of 33 points awarded.

The 2020 YOG mixed champions: from left, Norway's Ingeborg Forbregd, Nora Østgård, Grunde Buraas and Lukas Høstmaelingen. Norway edged out Japan 5-4 in a tense extra-end final to clinch gold. "I think the biggest moment was of course the last end, but also we had a steal in the fourth end that was pretty big," said Høstmaelingen.

With his final rock in an extra end, Norway's last-rock thrower Grunde Buraas took out a Japanese counter to score the gold medal-winning point.

"Our goal coming here was to get a medal so we are very happy," said Japanese skip Takumi Maeda after his team's silver-medal performance against Norway.

Canada's Lauren Rajala, Nathan Young, Emily Deschenes and Jaedon Neuert finished off the podium with a 5-4 extra-end quarter-final loss to Japan. With a tough draw to the button for the win, Young crashed on a guard to give up a steal.

Skip Valeriia Denisenko led her Russian lineup to a 9-5 bronze-medal win against New Zealand.

It was hugs all around for the YOG mixed champions from Norway. The Norwegians took a so-so 3-2 round-robin record into the playoffs where they won three straight.

The 2020 Scotties Tournament of Hearts champions: from left, Kerri Einarson, Val Sweeting, Shannon Birchard and Briane Meilleur. Leading by two in the 10th end, Einarson's draw for the win was heavy, giving up a steal of two and forcing an extra end. Faced with the same shot in overtime, Einarson nailed it with a perfectly played draw to the button.

Trailing 7-3 after eight ends, Ontario's Rachel Homan fought back with a deuce in the ninth and a steal of two in 10 — thanks to a draw by Manitoba's Kerri Einarson that went astray — to force an extra end.

It was a lucrative week for Kerri Einarson and her Hearts champions, starting with a stipend of $105,000 for the win, a spot as Team Canada at the 2021 Hearts and a berth in the Canadian Curling Trials.

JOAN MEAD BUILDER AWARD

Presented in the name of the late CBC-TV producer Joan Mead, who died suddenly of a heart attack in January 2000, the 2020 Builder Award was awarded posthumously to Deanna Rindal of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. A lifelong lover of curling, Rindal was recognized for her significant contributions to the sport as an umpire at numerous national and international events, and to the growth and development of curling in her province.

First-team all-star honours went to: from left, Ontario lead Lisa Weagle, second Shannon Birchard and third Val Sweeting, both of Manitoba, and skip Rachel Homan of Ontario.

MARJ MITCHELL AWARD

Team Canada lead Rachel Brown won the Marj Mitchell Award for best embodying the spirit of curling at the 2020 Scotties Tournament of Hearts. The award is named in memory of Marj Mitchell, who skipped Canada to its first world title in 1980. In 1983, shortly after the second Hearts, Mitchell died of cancer at the age of 35. The winner is selected each year in a vote by all players at the tournament.

SANDRA SCHMIRLER AWARD

Presented in the name of the late Sandra Schmirler, the MVP award was presented to Manitoba skip Kerri Einarson after she was chosen the most outstanding player in the 2020 Scotties Tournament of Hearts playoffs.

Skip Minji Kim and her South Korean lineup went undefeated in round-robin and semifinal play but fell 7-5 to Canada in the gold-medal game.

"We struggled a little in the first half, but we played a great second half. It's incredible and I'm so happy," said Team Canada skip Mackenzie Zacharias after winning the final.

The 2020 world junior most sportsmanlike awards — as chosen by their contemporaries — went to fourth Anton Hood of New Zealand and skip Maia Ramsfjell of Norway.

Women's coach Daniel Wenzek of New Westminster, B.C.'s Douglas Royals and men's coach Clancy Grandy of Toronto's Humber Hawks are the recipients of the 2020 coaching awards, as selected by opposing team coaches.

COACHING AWARD

The 2020 Coaching Award winners are women's coach Daniel Wenzek of the Douglas Royals and men's coach Clancy Grandy of the Humber Hawks. The award winners are chosen at the CCAA-Curling Canada Championships by coaches, who are asked to select an opposing team coach who best exemplifies the attributes of coaching.

EXEMPLARY LEADERSHIP AWARD

The 2020 Exemplary Leadership Award winners are Lakeland Rustlers third Dale Mizera and the Sault Cougars women's team. Voted on by the players, the award is presented to the individual or team who best demonstrates leadership behaviours that set an example for others to follow.

CANADIAN CURLING HALL OF FAME

Three new members have been inducted into the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame — curlers Julie Skinner and Wayne Middaugh and builder Terry Begin.

JULIE SKINNER, Curler

Julie Skinner made her first impact on the national stage in 1987 when she skipped her British Columbia squad to a gold medal at the Canadian juniors in Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, an event in which fellow Hall of Fame inductee Wayne Middaugh was skipping Team Ontario. A year later, in 1988 in Chamonix, France, Skinner skipped her Canadian championship team — third Judy Wood, second Susan Auty and lead Marla Geiger — to the first ever world junior women's title.

That success was just the beginning of Skinner's brilliant career, which saw her win two Scotties Tournament of Hearts — as a skip in 1991 with her B.C. team of twin sister Jodi Sutton at third, second Melissa Soligo and lead Karri Willms; and as third in 2000 with skip Kelley Law, second Georgina Wheatcroft and lead Diane Nelson — and a world championship silver medal in 1991 and gold in 2000. She also played in two Olympic Winter Games.

At the 1992 Winter Olympics in Albertville, France, where curling was a demonstration sport, Skinner skipped her 1991 Hearts champs to a bronze medal. Ten years later, in Salt Lake City, Utah, with curling having ascended to full-medal status four years earlier, Skinner won another bronze with her 2000 world championship squad.

Skinner played in six Scotties Tournament of Hearts — representing British Columbia four times and as Team Canada twice — and finished her career with two gold medals and two silvers.

WAYNE MIDDAUGH, Curler

Considered among the most gifted curlers ever to play the game, Wayne Middaugh of Victoria Harbour, Ontario, was an impact player on every team for which he played. He is the only curler ever to win three Briers and world championships at three different positions.

As a young front-ender coming out of juniors, he was part of the Russ Howard-skipped juggernaut that steamrolled to Brier and world titles in 1993 — a team that featured Middaugh at second, Peter Corner at lead and Glenn Howard at third.

After the 1994 season, Middaugh left Howard to skip his own team of third Graeme McCarrel, second Ian Tetley and lead Scott Bailey. It took a few years for the team to gel but in 1998 the foursome put it all together to win Brier and world championship titles.

Middaugh completed his collection of Brier and world championship gold medals in 2012, this time playing third for Glenn Howard, with Brent Laing at second and Craig Savill at lead.

Forced to retire after a skiing accident in January of 2016, Middaugh represented Ontario at nine Briers, finishing on the podium seven times, with three gold, two silver and two bronze medals. He has also won 11 Grand Slams in a storied career.

TERRY BEGIN, Builder

Ottawa's Terry Begin has been a tireless volunteer for curling in the nation's capital and a pioneer of today's statistical scoring system. While Begin volunteered at a series of major Curling Canada championships in his hometown, it was his behind-the-scenes work on compiling curling statistics that continues to have an impact on how curling is viewed by media and the public.

Begin got his first taste of curling in 1952 in Olds, Alberta, where he joined a high-school curling league. He played at a high level in the Ottawa area and also worked as an instructor with the likes of fellow Canadian Curling Hall of Famer Warren Hansen.

He volunteered at numerous major events, including the 1967, '77, '79, '93 and 2001 Briers, the 1990 Scott Tournament of Hearts and the 2017 Tim Hortons Roar of the Rings.

From 1977 to 1984, Begin was a member of the Canadian Curling Association's public relations committee, including terms as chair and vice-chair. In 2000, he was inducted into the prestigious Governor General's Curling Club.

Begin began to develop the scoring system for assessing players' shooting percentages in the late 1970s and it made its formal debut at the 1980 Canadian Junior Men's Curling Championship in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario. His system assigns point values to each attempted shot based on the outcome of the shot, using a scale of zero to four, with four being the highest. The guidelines he produced then are still largely relied upon by scorers at today's Curling Canada championships.

From 1980 to 1986, Begin served as chief statistician for the Canadian Curling Association and worked closely with fellow Hall of Famer Brian Cassidy, who developed the computer software to make live shooting percentages available during games.

PAUL McLEAN AWARD

TSN associate producer Geoff Kamada and production editor Shayne Dilling are co-winners of the 2020 Paul McLean Award.

The award was created in 2007 by the Canadian Curling Reporters — now the Professional Curling Media Association of Canada — in conjunction with TSN, in memory of McLean, a TSN executive producer, and his dedication to the sport of curling. McLean passed away on December 14, 2005, at his home in Brampton, Ontario, after a two-year battle with cancer. He was 39.

The award is presented annually to a person or persons in the media who have made an outstanding contribution to curling from behind the scenes.

Kamada and Dilling play a vital role in the on-air TSN product. Their gift for storytelling sets the tone for the broadcasts and connects the viewer with the event and the athletes.

They work tirelessly and while rarely seen outside of their editing suite, Kamada and Dilling have made a profound impact on what you've seen and will continue to see on TSN broadcasts.

CURLING CANADA UNVEILS NEW INITIATIVES AT ANNUAL MEETINGS

A new national under-15 event, new opportunities for accomplished curling athletes to work with current teams and various visions for the future of curling in Canada were unveiled in Kanata, Ontario, in September at the 2019 National Curling Congress and Curling Canada Annual General Meeting.

Representatives of Curling Canada's 14 member associations gathered with Curling Canada's board of governors and staff members in Kanata.

Two significant initiatives were unveiled.

The first will see high-level athletes with résumés of national and international accomplishments be able to consult with teams at sanctioned men's, women's and mixed doubles championships.

To apply to be a designated Curling Canada high-performance consultant, an athlete must have:

- won a Hearts, Brier, Canada Cup or Olympic trials, OR three Grand Slam events. (Does not include alternate players.)
- demonstrated interest in supporting Canadian high-performance teams.

Full information is now available on curling.ca.

Meanwhile, Curling Canada will expand its commitment to the next generation of Canadian curlers by introducing the Under-15 Rockfest in 2020-21.

There will be competition at the club level, with U-15 athletes advancing to four regional competitions operated by Curling Canada.

Ultimately, 20 individual athletes from each of those regional competitions will advance to the U-15 Canadian Rockfest, where they will participate in both singles and mixed team competition, stressing skills development and giving players the opportunity to compete at all four positions during the Canadian Rockfest.

Also discussed at the National Curling Congress were Safe Sport, risk management and event scheduling, as well as a national study from Deloitte Canada on the structure of the sport in our country and what can be done to improve it.

"Having everyone under one roof to talk about our sport and take a look in the mirror to see what we can do to make our sport better is just such a positive experience," said Katherine Henderson, Curling Canada's chief executive officer. "We have hard work in front of us, but it will lead to some amazing opportunities for curlers at every level across Canada."

Meanwhile, Curling Canada welcomed three new members to its national board of governors. Elected to the board were Chana Martineau of Edmonton, Mitch Minken of Swift Current, Saskatchewan, and Cathy Dalziel of Eastern Passage, Nova Scotia. They replace outgoing governors Resby Coutts and Maureen Miller, who have completed their terms, and Brad Gibb, who resigned from the board. Martineau and Minken have four-year terms, while Dalziel assumes the board position vacated by Gibb, which has two years left.

Ottawa's John Shea was elected chair of the Curling Canada board of governors for the 2019-20 season.

Another day. Another challenge.
